Vacancy details

Responsibilities

Conduct thorough research on potential private equity partners in alignment with Netsurit's growth objectives.

Analyze the impact of private equity partnerships on company culture, client relationships, and service quality, ensuring alignment with our core values.

Assist in the development of strategic models, including SWOT analysis, Porter's Five Forces, PESTLE analysis, market research, competitive analysis, and financial projections.

Collaborate with a team to identify and evaluate potential industry-focused MSP acquisition targets.

Requirements

Excellent written & spoken English skills - you'll be working in English on the US market and your tasks require an Advanced level of English, so we don't want to hear or see any mistakes.

Completed Bachelor's degree or ongoing Master's degree in a business-related field, strategic management, or relevant discipline.

Understanding of strategic planning models and thinking, including the ability to apply models such as balanced scorecard, Porter's Five Forces, BCG matrix, PESTLE analysis, and SWOT analysis to real-world scenarios.

Excellent research abilities, especially related to market trends, industry dynamics, and potential partnership opportunities.

Excellent communication skills, both written and verbal, with a proven ability to convey complex ideas clearly and persuasively.

Strong analytical skills, with the ability to synthesize data and draw meaningful insights.

Excellent organizational skills with the ability to manage multiple tasks and projects simultaneously.

Demonstrated ability to work independently and anticipate needs in a fast-paced environment.

Proactive attitude, adaptable to changing priorities and open to learning.

Working hours

You should adjust your working week to be able to overlap with Orrin and the team daily from 10 am to 6 pm South Africa time.

What we offer

Full-time schedule (8 working hours per day, 5/2). For this vacancy, we consider only graduates who are able to commit to the needed schedule. We will not consider candidates planning to combine this job with another job.

Remote work. You may be located in almost any country or city, just need a good Internet connection and the opportunity to adjust your working schedule to have overlapping hours with the team.

A great opportunity to put your university knowledge into practice.

Contribute to the development of a comprehensive strategic plan for a fast-growing company.
